An exciting month of new missionaries going to the field

Praise God as 12 new career missionaries transition to their fields of service in August

One of the main aspects of our leadership role with Global Outreach is to lead the training of new missionaries as they prepare to serve our Lord in various countries around the world.

It is one thing to have the joy of equipping them as they prepare to go, but the greater joy is when they actually get on a plane with their families and move overseas for long-term service.

This month alone, we have new missionaries moving to Nicaragua, France, Italy, Bulgaria, Ethiopia, Uganda, Zambia, and undisclosed locations in South-east Asia.

God is using your partnership with our family as a piece of getting these new missionaries to their fields of service. Thank you for being a part of God's work globally.

Multiplying leaders for ministry

Training Missionaries from the U.S.

& Nationals in Uganda

Equipping pastors remains a crucial aspect of strengthening and multiplying the church in East Africa. Pictured above is Stephen with his class of pastors (along with some of their wives) from a session in July at the Soweto training center site. These are some of the men who face extremely difficult circumstances in Muslim areas and in intense disease and poverty stricken villages along the islands of northern Lake Victoria. These men and their families cherish your prayers.

Here are some snapshots of our 'Compassion Ministries Fund' in action in July

Lessons from the Market

One of our sons was in the Jinja market a few weeks ago with one of our pastors. He remarked at how much better prices our pastors get than dad. He was right!

The fact is that our white skin makes us pretty useless at bartering in the open markets, but our local pastors can make things happen! Why? It is their own culture.

The same is true with church growth, building schools and training centers, and other aspects of ministry. The locals can make things happen exponentially compared to us. Empowering local church leadership among the national population must be the focus!

Though our ministry roles have expanded, our dependence upon God providing through investors like you remains the same. As full-time missionaries, GO provides no funding for any of our ministries and living expenses. We cherish your partnership through prayer and finances.

Updates

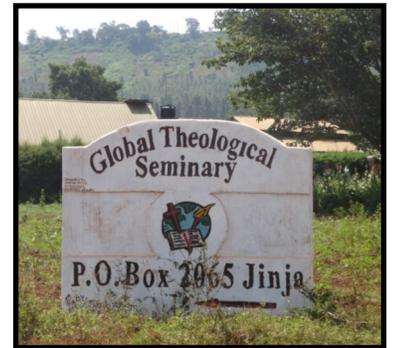

on some of the key works ongoing in Uganda that need your prayer

Pictured to the right is Stephen and Pastor Ojiambo looking at land near the church & school in Soweto. As both the primary school and the pastors' training center grow, the government is requiring that we have more land to operate here. Pray for direction in acquiring the right land additions.

Meeting with local leaders can be both exciting and a tremendous challenge. To the left is Stephen meeting with leadership in Waibale concerning the school at the church in this predominantly Islamic area. Pray for favor with local governments and with new building needs.

The Fulks family, great GO missionaries and dear friends of ours, have done a tremendous job leading Global Theological Seminary. After 15 years of service in Jinja, Uganda, they will now be serving in Kenya. Pray for their move and for the seminary, as it now becomes completely led by the national leaders. These are great men whom we know God will use!

Updates

on some of our GO Home Office responsibilities that need your prayer

August: Many of our missionaries are struggling with visas and work permits, especially throughout Africa. As we help them navigate this process, and other adjustment issues, pray that we might have wisdom.

September: Key meetings are occurring as to strategic partnerships to increase ministry effectiveness in certain countries. Pray for wisdom for Stephen.

October: A new class of missionaries enter our training program. Pray that God might use us to prepare them well for their various international assignments.

November: Quickly approaching is this year's GO International Conference. This annual event brings in missionaries and guests from around the world, as well as, hosts the GO Annual Board of Directors and Membership meetings. Please pray for our family and others in leadership who are organizing this event.
